Navigating the »Klinikum Stuttgart« with ease

In the future, two interactive touch-screen information pillars will help people visiting the »Klinikum Stuttgart« to find their way around the clinic's vast complex. netvico has designed a very user-friendly solution displaying all the various routes, buildings and locations at the clinic.

The two pillars, one installed at the main »Katharinenhof« entrance and one at another entrance to the clinic, will display site plans for all departments and wards as well as other relevant places such as the admissions desk/pay desk, information area, elevators and the library. The easy-to-read maps will show the route from the place of departure to the desired destination. All the content is available in German, English, Turkish or Arabic. The pillar at the main entrance has an add-on with homogenous LED lighting to direct people quickly to the emergency rooms.
